WORLD'S FAIR REPRODUCTION

Official Nature of the Series Secured For Bulletin Readers.

OVER 500 PHOTOGRAPHS

A MOST VALUABLE SOUVENIR AND RECORD FOR EVERY THOUGHTFUL AMERICAN CITIZEN.

It was a frequent expression of those who attended the "Columbian" exposition that although several days were spent within the grounds very much of interest was nevertheless overlooked.

If this were so at that time, how much more difficult it will be to get a comprehensive and complete idea of the exposition at St. Louis.

The comparative figures are somewhat interesting. The exposition enclosure at St. Louis covers 1,210 acres, as against 675 acres at Chicago and 336 acres at Paris.

The roof-covered area at St. Louis is 128 acres, while at Chicago it was but 82 acres and at Paris but one half that figure.

Foreign participations at St. Louis is from 50 to 75 per cent greater than it was at Chicago and this ratio also holds good with regard to the expense for exposition purposes.

There are 128 acres under roof and over 100 acres of exhibits out of doors, and the fair will be further distinguished by the assemblage of natives of every nation on the globe.

The exposition from day to day will constitute a vast moving panorama, too stupendous, indeed, for any single mind to compass.

Then, again, one scene so quickly takes the place of another that the scenes become confused and little may be distinctly remembered. This condition renders it all the more necessary to catch the spirit of the exposition by the aid of the camera and preserve it forever on the sensitive photographic plate.

This has been done in the superb photographic series, called the "Forest City Art Portfolio," which are being distributed to Bulletin readers.

It should be borne in mind that this series of views is official in a double sense.

In the first place, the photographs from which the reproductions are made have been specially taken for the series, and in the next place the descriptive matter which accompanies the views has been prepared by the one official of all others most familiar with the details of the exposition.

The expert artists comprising the corps of the official photographers have been at work for months securing negatives, and will continue to secure them for the next six months.

The descriptive matter is being written by Mr. Walter B. Stevens, the Secretary of the Louisiana Purchase exposition, and the distinguished talents of both artist and author thus join in reproducing the fair on paper for permanent preservation.

It will prove a souvenir for the millions who will attend the fair, as a record of what they will see, and it will take the place of the exposition itself for the millions who may not find opportunity to see it.

The first portfolios are ready and Bulletin readers may secure it by sending or bringing to this office the little coupon printed elsewhere, together with the nominal sum of 10 cents for each number, as issued, which amount is designed to cover the actual cost of conducting the distribution.

Readers should secure this valuable series in its entirety, beginning with Part One, which contains sixteen beautiful and interesting views, showing some of the buildings in the course of construction, others immediately after completion, and picturing some interesting persons connected with the enterprise.

Had Had Enough.
During recent army maneuvers at Fort McPherson a sentinel was stationed in the road. A farmer came along and his horse, unaccustomed to the sight, bolted and upset the soldier. After going a short distance the farmer managed to pull up and then, turning to the soldier, indignantly exclaimed: "Why the mischief don't you get out of the road?" "Good Lord!" exclaimed the disheveled warrior; "you ain't coming back, are you?"

Exposure
To cold draughts of air, to keen and cutting winds, sudden changes of temperature, scanty clothing, undue exposure to the throat and neck after coughs and colds, Ballard's Horehound Syrup is the best.

Mrs. A. Harr, Houston, Texas, writes, Jan. 31, 1902: "One bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup cured me of a very bad cough. It is very pleasant to take." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by Schuh Drug Company.

Attention!
Richard E. Cannon was last night awarded the contract for the installation of a city electric lighting plant at Wickliffe, Ky.

Mr. Cannon was only awarded the contract after a most spirited and fierce competitive contest in which representatives of electric light companies and promoters from Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Memphis were present to extol the individual advantages of the different companies they represented, not only on account of quality, but the cheapness. There were ten in all.

Mr. Cannon was ably seconded in his proposal by Mr. E. R. Wilson, of Pittsfield, Mass., the western representative of the Stanley direct-current electric machine, which is the kind that will be installed in our neighboring Kentucky city.

The machine is to be a 75 kilowatt Stanley type and will furnish 17 enclosed are lights, of 2,000 candle power intensity. The plant is to be installed within ninety days from date of awarding of the contract.

The price of the plant is about $8,500.

Women as Legislators.
Advocates of woman's rights should know that ladies of quality sat in the council with the Baron Witas, deliberated and signed decrees along with the king, bishops and nobles. In the time of King Henry III and Edward I. four abbesses were summoned to parliament, while in the parliament of King Edward III there were representatives by their proxies the countesses of Norfolk, Ormond, March, Pembroke, Oxford and A. hole.

A FEW DAYS MORE

And our Winter Clearance will be at an end. Buyers are in the market making spring purchases. We must have room to receive, store and display these goods. As a result the wind-up of our winter's business will be the most interesting of all of it. Goods are being sacrificed now without any regard to cost or value. It is not a question of loss to us, but a demand for room that must be met. Delay in buying will make your chances at bargains much less than if you come right away. Save while you can. :: :: :: :: ::
